CALIFORNIA BANK AT OAKLAND TAKES A REST

OAKLAND, Cal., November 12.—At the earnest solicitation of the Oakland clearing house the California bank, D. Edward Collins, president, failed to open this morning and will take advantage of the legal holidays. The closing of William Collins & Son's bank of Ventura, of which Collins was also president, is what affected the California. That bank is supposed to owe enough to the local institution to embarrass it merely temporarily.

IF DEFENDANT FAILS TO PRODUCE SHARES HE WANTS DAMAGES

Claiming that the Gila Valley Bank & Trust company failed to comply with the stipulations of a contract made in May, 1905, C. H. Starr has brought suit against the company in the district court.

In his complaint Starr alleges that in May, 1905, he arranged with the bank for the purchase of a certain number of shares in the Shannon Copper company. He asserts that he paid over to the bank $750 for the purchase of the stock and $12.50 additional in the shape of a commission for the services to be performed. He further charges that the defendant has failed to deliver the stock to him and has also refused to refund the money. He now asks for the delivery of the stock; and, in default, for $1,000 damages for the increased value of the shares, for reasonable damages and for $763 with interest. Thomas E. Flannigan represents the plaintiff.

HARRIMAN TELLS WHY HE SHOULDN'T ANSWER COMMISSION'S QUESTION

NEW YORK, November 12.—The reasons given by Harriman why he should not answer certain questions put during the investigation by the interstate commerce commission are set forth in a brief filed by former Judge Lovett, counsel for Harriman. The proceedings brought by the commission to compel Harriman to answer is to come up before Judge Hough of the federal circuit court tomorrow. The principal point in the brief is the acts concerning which Harriman was questioned did not relate to the interstate commerce act, but to a violation of the interstate commerce act, but is designed to compel a disclosure by him of transactions for which, "had they taken place, neither the commission nor the congress of the United States could afford a constitutional remedy."

The case was continued until tomorrow.

WEDDING FOLLOWS DIVORCES

Former Virginian, Who Lost Suit, Marries Woman Who Won Hers

CHICAGO, November 12.—Announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Edith R. Charter and George C. Cunningham marked the climax of two sensational divorce cases which stirred Chicago and New York society, and a courtship of long duration, which extended from New York to Alaska.

When Mr. and Mrs. James A. Charter separated several years ago, South Side social circles heard that the husband had been accused of too much fondness for subterfuges. Mrs. Charter obtained a divorce and $25,000 cash alimony. Then she went to White Sulphur Springs in West Virginia, where she met George C. Cunningham, a consulting engineer. When Mrs. Charter subsequently went to New Orleans, he followed, pressing his suit, in spite of the fact that he had a wife and family residing in Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Cunningham, hearing of her husband's infatuation for the beautiful Chicago divorcee, changed her residence to New York, and there began action for a divorce, which she obtained last summer. Meanwhile, Mr. Cunningham went to Alaska, where he superintended the building of the Guggenheim railroads. Two weeks ago Mrs. Charter went to Seattle, where she met Mr. Cunningham, and they were married.

HUSBAND SLAYS "BURGLAR"

Letters Indicate that the Intruder Was Friend of Wife

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., November 10.—A. J. Detsch, a traveling salesman, last night shot five bullets through the door of his bedroom and instantly killed Henry Ferres, a boarder. Detsch told the police that he had heard a noise, and, believing a burglar was outside, had fired.

His wife, confronted by letters found in Ferres' room, tonight admitted, the police say, that she had been friendly with Ferres, and that her husband had found it out. She said he had bought the revolver soon after the discovery. Last night Ferres crept through the hall to her room. Detsch was awake, and as soon as he heard the hand on the knob, shot through the door.

Detsch denied his wife's statement. "I shot the man because I thought him a burglar," he said. "I do not believe my wife would smirch herself so. At any rate I won't allow her to. I will hang before I will let her dishonor herself."

The police have letters which they say substantiate her story.

WILLED PALACE TO STATE

Prince Strozzi Left Famous Structure to Italian Government

FLORENCE, Italy, November 12.—Announcement is made that Prince Piero Strozzi, who died here a few days ago, has left to the state the celebrated Strozzi palace.

The palace was begun in 1489 by Benedetto Da Majano for Filippo Strozzi, the adversary of the Medici, but was not completed until 1553. It represents the most perfect development of the Florentine palatial style of art.

There are three imposing facades and a handsome court. The corner lanterns are among the finest specimens of Italian ironwork of the period. Many old, famous works of art were in the palace, but were sold in 1878 and taken to Berlin.
